

Saint Mary Magdalen Church

Building a family of faith in Jesus Christ through Catholic Worship, Formation & Charity.

24 MAY 2026

PENTECOST SUNDAY

Dear Friends in Christ,

The liturgical year has two great cycles. I think of the first as the Incarnation Cycle, with Advent as a season of preparation leading to the great feasts of Christmas and Epiphany. The second can be thought of as the Paschal Mystery Cycle, with Lent as the season of preparation leading to the great feasts of Easter, Ascension, and Pentecost, which we celebrate today. The great feasts of the central mysteries of our salvation culminate, then, in the coming of the Holy Spirit upon the apostles—that is, the embryonic Church of the Upper Room—and through them into the whole world. This great apostolic work of bestowing the gift of the Holy Spirit to all peoples continues to this day and has profoundly affected the course of history and the lives of countless men and women.

From all eternity, the Holy Spirit proceeds from the Father and the Son, a Trinity—that is, a unity among three persons. This unity is expressed in the economy of salvation, in which all of the persons act, though each in their proper way. In the Paschal Mystery, the will of the Father accomplishes the salvation of the human race precisely through the complete self-offering of the Son on the altar of the Cross. Yet Jesus had told His disciples that it was better that He went to the Father, because then the Spirit would come. The Holy Spirit, co-equal with the Father and the Son, raised Christ from the dead. In His risen body, we see the glory promised to all humanity. This glory is simply the human person fully pneumatized—that is, fully enlivened by the Holy Spirit. This work begins at our Baptism and especially at Confirmation, when we are perfected as Christians and sealed with the promised Holy Spirit, the same Spirit which descended upon the apostles in the upper room.

Think about the Mass, when the priest holds his hands over the bread and wine, and the bells are rung for the first time. This is called the Epiklesis, from the Greek epi + kaleo, meaning to call down. The priest is calling down the Holy Spirit to sanctify the offerings of the faithful—the bread and wine—and transform them into the mystery of our salvation, the very re-presentation of the sacrifice of Calvary. At the same time—and this is developed in the prayers which take place after the consecration—this Epiclesis is also about the people, that each of the faithful present be transformed just as the bread and wine are transformed. That our lives be a perfect sacrifice in union with the one sacrifice of Christ. In essence, the coming of the Holy Spirit upon the Church fulfills the Transfiguration, when Jesus, in His humanity, was seen by the apostles in the fullness of His divinity. We who wander now on earth still glimpse Christ in His veiled presence of the Eucharist, but the Holy Spirit transforms our hearts, such that we catch a glimpse of His divinity—we are changed, not Himself—such that we can say with Saint Peter, “master, it is good that we are here!”

Dear friends, I am privileged as a priest to see the work of the Holy Spirit in our community. Even if it might seem at times to be slow, I assure you that the Spirit’s life-giving, transforming work is very much real and active among us. Am I open and docile to the Holy Spirit in my life? Are each of us? A sign that the answer is yes would be that we see the fruits of the Spirit—love, joy, peace, patience—and all the rest. At the same time, the Spirit impels us toward mission: to proclaim the Gospel, to accompany others and make disciples, to demonstrate through works of mercy the nearness of the Kingdom of God to those who suffer. For the works that are already taking place, we give thanks to God. At the same time, we pray Veni, Sancte Spiritus—Come, Holy Spirit. Come anew into our lives. Enflame us with your life. Make us your witnesses of love and truth in the world. Amen.

May the Lord grant you peace!

CONGRATULATIONS TO REV. JUDE OPARA THE CELEBRANT AT OUR 9:30 AM MASS ON SUNDAY, MAY 31

Congratulations to Rev. Jude Opara, who was ordained last Saturday, May 16, at the Cathedral Basilica of Saints Peter and Paul. On Sunday, May 31, Fr. Jude will preside at our 9:30 AM Mass, followed by a coffee-and-donut reception hosted by our second-grade and school families in St. Francis Hall. All are welcome to join us! Beginning on July 1, Fr. Jude will be at St. Christopher Parish, located at 13301 Proctor Road in the northeast section of Philadelphia. Please continue to pray for him and the seven other newly ordained priests as they shepherd us throughout the Archdiocese!
