Building a family of faith in Jesus Christ through Catholic Worship, Formation & Charity.

25 OCTOBER 2026

THIRTIETH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

+JMJ+

Dear Faithful & Friends,

Praised be Jesus Christ! Over the last few years, have you noticed an increase in the amount of decorations for Halloween? The other day, I was driving behind a car on the highway that had a skeleton dangling from the trunk, yellow caution tape wrapped around the bumper, and other spooky stickers on the windows. Houses are wrapped with orange lights, yards are filled with inflatable spiders, and even other, more frightening scenes. When I was growing up, I remember a carved pumpkin on our porch, and that was it. All of these decorations indicate how, throughout our country, people may be knocking on a neighbor's door, or a neighbor may be knocking on our own door. This week, our readings are also a reminder of the essential focus of our lives of faith, which involves a relationship with our neighbor.

In the First Reading for this Sunday (Exodus 22:20-26), our Lord commands His newly liberated people to show particular care for the stranger, the widow, and the orphan, and to deal mercifully with the poor. These commandments belong to a much larger story: the formation of a nation as Almighty God's holy people after their deliverance from slavery in Egypt. After their exodus, Almighty God brought the people to Mount Sinai. He established His covenant with them and gave them His Law through Moses. The commandments were not merely a collection of rules imposed upon the people. They taught them how to live as a community consecrated to the Lord, who themselves had received mercy and were therefore called to show mercy to others.

Our Lord reminds His people that they, too, had known the suffering of the stranger: "For you were once aliens yourselves in the land of Egypt" (cf. Exodus 22:20). Their own history of oppression was to make them compassionate toward those who were vulnerable. Almighty God, who heard the cry of His people in Egypt, would not permit them to ignore the cries of the poor among them.

The commandments given at Sinai reveal something essential about our Lord Himself. He is holy, just, and merciful. He defends those who have no earthly power and hears the petitions of those who suffer. His people were called to imitate this divine goodness in their common life. The Law was therefore never intended to be reduced to outward observance alone. Its commands were meant to shape the heart, teaching God's people to love what He loves and to reject the hardness of heart that leads to injustice. Our Lord calls for not only right worship, but also right conduct toward our neighbor.

In today's Gospel (Matthew 22:34-40), our Lord is asked which commandment of the Law is the greatest. He answers by joining two commandments: love of God, from Deuteronomy 6:5, and love of neighbor, from Leviticus 19:18. Upon these two commandments, Our Lord declares, "depend the whole law and the prophets" (Matthew 22:40).

Jesus does not abolish the Law given through Moses; He reveals its deepest meaning and brings it to perfection. The love of God and the love of neighbor cannot be separated. We cannot claim to love our Lord while deliberately refusing the duties of justice, charity, and mercy that He commands. Nor can our service to our neighbor replace the worship, obedience, and adoration owed to Almighty God alone.

The covenant at Sinai prepared Almighty God's people for the revelation of Jesus Christ. In Christ, the commandments find their perfect expression in the love of the Son, who gives Himself entirely to the Father and lays down His life for the salvation of mankind.

As Catholics, we receive Almighty God's commandments not as burdensome restrictions, but as a sure guide to holiness and eternal life. The moral law teaches us how to order our lives according to the wisdom of our Creator. Grace strengthens us to fulfill what God commands, and the Church continues to teach us how to live this divine law faithfully.

This week, let us examine our consciences in the light of the First Reading. How do we treat the poor, the stranger, and the vulnerable? How do we show patience and mercy within our own families? Do we fulfill our duties of justice and charity, especially when doing so requires sacrifice? Above all, let us remember that authentic love begins with our Lord. Through prayer, reverence for His holy commandments, worthy reception of the Sacraments, and fidelity to the teachings of Holy Mother Church, may our hearts be conformed to the Sacred Heart of Jesus. Almighty God, who gave His Law at Sinai, still calls us to love Him above all things, and to love our neighbor for His sake. May we keep the focus on this foundational and essential teaching no matter what costumes we are planning to wear this year and when knocking on a neighbor's door or answering it.

May our Lord bless you and our Lady keep you!

In Christ,
Father Cavara

RECEIVING THE MOST HOLY EUCHARIST LOW-GLUTEN HOSTS

As we come forward to receive our Lord in Holy Communion, parishioners who require a low-gluten host are invited to approach the Celebrant. He will have the low-gluten hosts with him, in a separate vessel from the main ciborium, as he distributes the Eucharist, generally from the center aisle. Thank you for helping us ensure that all who need a low-gluten host may receive the Most Holy Eucharist with reverence and care.

SVDP Needs Your Help

Recently, the needs of those in our community struggling for safe shelter, food, and basic needs are growing. Over the past few months, SVDP has received numerous requests for help and rental assistance.

Our area's SVDP team has been able to assist many of the urgent requests, which were substantial; however, several more remain in critical need.

SVDP remains ever grateful for the support of our dedicated parishioners in our mission to aid those in dire need. Your kindness and gifts directly aid so many of our neighbors.

If you can help us to support families, please place a donation in our metal box near the food donation bins in the narthex. We thank you!
