

Saint Mary Magdalen Church

Building a family of faith in Jesus Christ through Catholic Worship, Formation & Charity.

13 SEPTEMBER 2026

TWENTY-FOURTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

+JMJ+

Dear Faithful & Friends,

Praised be Jesus Christ! Many people experience periods of debt in their lives. Even the most fiscally responsible among us may need to rely on a student loan, mortgage, car loan, or credit card to provide for ourselves or our families. Debt can seem like a reality of life.

Our Lord uses this familiar reality in a parable to teach us about the necessity of forgiveness. We are all familiar with forgiveness, whether we have been forgiven for a mistake or have forgiven someone else who has offended us. As Catholics, we call to mind both being forgiven and forgiving others every time we pray the Lord's Prayer, approach the altar, or kneel in the confessional. Every follower of Christ is called to live by mercy.

A striking aspect of the parable is the servant's inability to pay. Owing a debt that we cannot repay is a terrible thought. And yet, all of us are unable to repay what we owe Almighty God. The good news we proclaim is that Christ has offered His life for us. We are like the servant whose entire debt was forgiven. Therefore, when we have been wronged, we do not have any good reason to withhold forgiveness from another.

Forgiveness, however, does not necessarily mean that we must always remain close to someone who has seriously betrayed or harmed us. Prudence may require boundaries, especially when there has been grave wrongdoing. Nevertheless, we know that holding on to grudges can affect our outlook on life and harden our hearts. Our First Reading from the Book of Sirach helps us consider the danger of refusing mercy when we ourselves are in need of forgiveness: "Could anyone nourish anger against another and expect healing from the LORD? Could anyone refuse mercy to another like himself, can he seek pardon for his own sins?" (Sir 28:3-4).

When we consider ourselves as being forgiven, we become more inclined to forgive. We pray in Psalm 103: "He pardons all your iniquities, heals all your ills. He redeems your life from destruction, crowns you with kindness and compassion" (vv. 3-4).

Reflecting on all that we have received through Christ can move us to be merciful when we have been wronged.

We reflect on the reality of forgiveness as we prayerfully remember the 25th anniversary of the September 11th attacks. We may rightly condemn an evil deed without permitting hatred to become the master of our hearts. Our Lord did not wait for those who crucified Him to become worthy before praying for their forgiveness. From the Cross, He prayed for them. This is not a weakness. It is the victory of divine charity over hatred.

As we remember September 11th, let us resist two temptations. The first is forgetfulness and neglecting to recognize evil. The second is hatred, and allowing the evil committed by others to deform our souls. The Catholic response is neither forgetfulness nor hatred. Rather, the Catholic response understands justice and mercy to be complementary rather than contradictory.

All innocent people and victims of violence deserve to be remembered with reverence. Let us remember the souls of the faithful departed with sincere devotion. Let us honor those who gave their lives protecting others. Let us pray for families still carrying the wounds of violence. Let us ask Almighty God for the conversion of sinners, especially those who embrace hatred.

At every Mass, we stand beneath the Cross, where divine mercy and justice conquered human hatred. May the Sacred Heart of Jesus make our hearts like His, so that we are courageous enough to resist evil, humble enough to seek forgiveness, and merciful enough to forgive.

Please be assured of my prayers.

May our Lord bless you,
and may Our Lady keep you!

Yours in Christ,
Father Cavara
